TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Begins Next Monday, Closes On Next Friday Afternoon.

EVERY TEACHER MUST COME.

Fine Program And Talented Lecturers To Be Here.

The Christian County white Teachers Institute meets here next Monday morning and will be in session five days, closing with the Friday afternoon session.

Every teacher having a contract, as well as those holding certificates and having not thus far closed a contract, is required under the school law to attend. This is mandatory and teachers who fail to attend the institution next week will forfeit their certificates, as they will have their certificates revoked by the County Superintendent. The first of this month Mrs. Nannie Faulkner, superintendent of schools for Fayette county, cancelled the certificates of 31 teachers for failing to attend the institution last October, much to the delight of the school board.

There are four graded school districts in Christian county, Lattin-ette, Pembroke, Crofton and Gracey. All the teachers in these schools are required to attend.
There are 76 other schools and their teachers must also attend.

Miss Jennie West, who is to conduct the institute, says she is putting forth her best efforts to make the approaching institute the most interesting and instructive ever held five days has not been quite completed, she announces that Miss Mary Proudfoot, of Marquette, structor.

Prof. B. K. Brown, of Pembroke, Prof. J. W. Marion, Supt. of Hop-

GRAND OLD MAN

Passes Away at Louisville 89
Years Old.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 17.—Colonel Reuben T. Darrett, publicist and historian, died at his home here yesterday after an illness of several months. He was 89 years old. Col.
Darrett was a profound student and an authority on the early history of the middle west. He accumulated one of the most valuable private libraries in the country, comprising more than 50,000 volumes.

Jas. B. Allensworth
For Prosecuting Attorney

While it is true that more than two years will elapse before the voters of the Third Judicial district will be called upon to name a Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, yet it is not an uncommon thing for a candidate for either of these offices to make a campaign for his early election. The Commonwealth's Attorney, in the person of the Hon. Jas. B. Allensworth, of Hopkinsville, who in Pembroke on professional business a few days since, Mr. Allensworth made this announcement to a few of his close friends, of whom there are very many hereabouts.

Mr. Allensworth has always been a staunch and active Democrat, taking a conspicuous part in every campaign for the past twenty years or more, rendering very effective service upon the stump. He has never been an office-seeker in any sense of the term; but in his early career as a lawyer at the Hopkinsville bar, was twice appointed for a term of years as City Attorney, a position which he filled with credit to himself and the city. He has since been engaged in the active practice of his profession.

For about eight years Mr. Allens-worth was in partnership with the late Judge J. L. Lander, deceased, forming this partnership soon after Judge Lander retired from the special bench.

He has recently entered into a partnership with former Attorney-General James B. Brecht, of the firm Brecht, Allensworth & Brecht.

While it is true that Mr. Allens-worth has never been the regularly elected Commonwealth's Attorney, he has had much experience in the duties of the office, and for the past fifteen years has almost invariably been appointed by the presiding judge as Commonwealth's Attorney pro tem, in the absence of the regular incumbent. Within the past two years, during the time Commonwealth's Attorney Denny P. Smith was making his campaign for a state office and for congress, Mr.

Allensworth filled this position, the last time for a period of six months, and, we are pleased to note, made quite a reputation as an able, fair and just officer of the law, and by such conduct he not only succeeded in a marked degree in the enforcement of the law, but formed many warm friendships in every county in the district, who are now his earnest and faithful supporters for the office.

Mr. Allensworth is a lawyer of fine ability, a forceful, earnest and convincing speaker, honorable and clean in character, and if chosen to fill the responsible position of Commonwealth's Attorney, will discharge the duties thereof with great credit to himself and the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

With the almost unanimous endorsement we believe he will receive at the hands of the voters of Christian county, and the cordial support he will receive in the other counties of the district, his prospects for being nominated and elected seem resplendent.

Therefore, we take pleasure in stating that he will surely be a candidate against any and all comers, and present his candidacy for the consideration of the voters of this judicial district for the only office he has ever sought—in fact, as he has expressed it, the only office he ever desired.—Pembroke Journal.

POSTOFFICE TROUBLES

A Brace of Safe Blowers in Jail Here, Etc., Etc.

Somehow things are not moving along rightly in this section of Kentucky among some of the postoffices.
Here are a few of the troubles mentioned in the newspapers in the last two or three days:

There are two men now in jail at Owensboro sent from here for robbing the postoffice at Crofton; last week the postmaster at Pembroke got into a difficulty with one of the rural route carriers, in which the carrier was cut pretty badly on one arm, and, worst of all, there is not a shadow of a chance of anything being done towards the erection of the new postoffice building here this year.

PRESBYTERY

Of Muhlenburg Convened Here Tuesday Night.

The Presbytery of Muhlenburg, Southern Assembly, convened in the Western church Tuesday night for a two days' session. This presbytery has a membership, according to last year's statistics, of 1,700 members, 18 ministers and 18 churches. Rev. R. H. Cahoon, the retiring moderator, preached the pension sermon. Yesterday was devoted to routine business. At night the closing sermon was preached by Dr.
W. R. Henderson, of Greenville.

Watch Out For Them.

A few days ago bank robbers broke into the bank of Eldyville and the bank at Kuttawa. Last week a man, thought to be drunk, tried to get into a residence on South Virginia street and another on South Main. A few nights previous burglars had entered the residence on South Main street. They got in by a back window and pulled down the shutters, but before they could get in the door was closed. They were seen to enter the house and were seen to leave.
They were seen to enter the house

TO HOLD REVIVALS

Two of The Largest Churches Are Getting Ready.

Rev. C. M. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist church, has about completed all arrangements for a great revival. The audience room has just been renovated and varnished, a new heating plant is being installed and everything will be ready for the beginning of the services on Sunday, October 7th.

Rev. H. D. Smith, pastor of the Ninth Street Christian church, is receiving the hearty cooperation of his congregation in his plans for holding revival services in the near future. More definite announcements as to date and what evangelists will be called will be made in the future.

There is a lot of talk of arranging for a series of services at the Tabernacle here, but nothing definite has been done.

MOPE STALLS

One 107 All Sold and Bonds To Be Sold.

One of the best evidences of the success of the Pennyroyal Fair, now three weeks off, is the continued demand of stock men for stalls. The 107 first built have been rented and the directors have decided to sell $2,000 more stock and build 100 additional stalls at once.

Marvelous Growth.

Mr. W. W. Garnett has an Empress tree on his lawn which has grown 24 feet this year, and the leaves of which measure 45 inches in length. These are actual measurements and can be verified by anyone who desires.—Pembroke Journal.

Box Supper.

There will be a supper at Blackjack school house next Saturday evening, September 20th. Come everyone, and bring your box.

CHRISTIAN REPRESENTED

The State Fair At Louisville Is Drawing Record Crowds.

14,500 PATRONS FIRST DAY.

Biggest Thing Of The Year Excepting The Pennyroyal Fair.

The State Fair now in progress at Louisville is reported as eclipsing all former exhibitions. The first day 14,000 people attended and a regular stream of people is pouring into the city from all parts of Kentucky daily.

Hopkinsville is well represented.
Both the L. & N. and L. C. railroad local agents report large sales of tickets every day. The low fare over the roads is an inducement for people to visit Louisville who never have business to call them there and they are going just to see the city and attend the fair. There is over both roads only one fare plus 25 cents good to September 21.

BETTER THAN EVER

Latest Addition to Rex Orchestra Is An Artist.

The management of the Rex Theatre is always looking for something new and the newest acquisition to the orchestra is Mr. I. W. Mild, who takes the drum parts, and not only the drum parts but a locomotive whistle, a saxophone, bird whistles and a lot of other things that none but a professional and music reader could possibly handle.
Mr. Mild comes here from Cincinati where he had the training necessary to become an artist in his line. No sweeter music can be heard anywhere than is now being furnished by the Rex people by an orchestra of six pieces, piano, violin, flute, cornet, trumpet and the drum, cymbal, etc., used by Mr.
Mild.

1913 FOOT BALL

Local Men Are Lining Up For Action and Eager For The Gridiron.

With the advent of cool weather and the disappearance of the Moguls, football men are now using the baseball field for practice.
Monday about two dozen men reported to the coach of the High School and Tuesday the boys were at the ball park for practice.
Several games have already been arranged for, and as the Louisville High School and Manual Training School are already on the list, the locals have some very heavy work before them. But they are husky young fellows and are not afraid to run up against any team.

Colored Fair.

The sixth annual Christian county Colored Fair will be held at Pembroke, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 25, 26 and 27. The program is very complete and interesting, and in addition to the regular stock rings and other fair attractions, there will be various shows inside the grounds.

Epilepsy Causes Death.

Mrs. William P. Potts, a patient from Muhlenburg county, died at the Western State Hospital here last night of epilepsy. She had been in the hospital for several months.
The doctor took care of her in the hospital and she died.

HIGH HOPES FOR SOLUTION

Says Restoration of Peace Has Been Hindered By Relations.

Mexico City, Sept. 17.—Provisional President Victoriano Huerta declared his annual message last night at the opening of the second session of the Twenty-seventh Mexican Congress.

In it he promised to spare no efforts to bring about the unrestricted election of President and Vice President of the Mexican Republic next month, declaring it would constitute the greatest triumph of his career over the office which he now holds in the country, a peace, as he said, to be.

Gen. Huerta said the strained diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States have caused the Mexican nation to be in a corner and all other relations. Nevertheless, he hoped for an early solution of the difficulties between the two nations and between Mexico and the United States, and he called for the bonds of friendship.

POST-SEASON GAMES

To Be Played Between Paducah and Chillicothe.

Positive arrangements have been completed today at a meeting in Cincinnati between President Bassett of the Kitty League and President Read of the Ohio State league for a post season championship series of games to be played between Paducah and Chillicothe, pennant winners respectively in the two circuits. Three games will be played in each town, beginning at Chillicothe on September 23, 24 and 25, and ending at Paducah on September 27, 28 and 29. In case of an even break in these games, the seventh and deciding game will be played on neutral grounds. Each club posted five hundred dollars as guarantee that it would play the series as planned. To play these games it means a four-hundred mile trip for each team. The Paducah team is headed by the best pitcher ever recorded in the Kitty league and the fans here believe they will be able to draw a crowd, though they are not sure of the latter's eligibility for a class D league.

EMANCIPATION DAY

NATIVES ARE FEW

Most of the People of Hawaii Are Non-Caucasians.

Heterogeneous Population of the Islands of 200,000 Includes 79,000 Japanese, 26,000 Natives and 44,000 Whites.

Washington.—Of a total population of nearly 200,000 in Hawaii in 1910, nearly 85,000, or 56.6 per cent., of those more than ten years old, could not speak English, the census bureau reports.

Nearly half are Japanese and more than half non-Caucasian.

The number of illiterates was approximately 40,000, or 26.8 per cent. of the population more than ten years old. This showed a decrease of 6.3 per cent. from 1900.

Racially the population of the territory is extremely heterogeneous. In 1910 the pure Caucasian element numbered 44,048, constituting 23 per cent. of the total population. Of this class, which is itself composed of diverse racial elements, 22,301, or slightly more than one-half, were Portuguese.
4,890 were Porto Rican, 1,990 were Spanish and 14,867 were of other Caucasian descent.

The Japanese, numbering 79,675, constituted 41.5 per cent., or more than two-fifths, of the total population. While the Japanese, Chinese and Coreans combined numbered 105,882, or 55.2 per cent., of the total population. Persons of pure native Hawaiian stock numbered 26,041 and constituted 13.6 per cent. of the population.

In the decade, 1900-1910, the number of Caucasians in the population increased 15,229, or 52.8 per cent., the percentage of increase for this race being practically the same in this as in the preceding decade. The increase of the Japanese in the decade 1900-1910 was 18,564, or 30.4 per cent. In the same period the Chinese decreased 4,093, or 15.9 per cent.

The number of pure Hawaiians decreased from 34,436 in 1890 to 26,041 in 1910, the decrease in the decade 1900-1910 being somewhat less than that in the preceding decade—3,758, or 12.6 per cent., as compared with 4,637, or 13.5 per cent.

Slightly more than one-half (93,157, or 51.1 per cent.) of the population in 1910 was native, and slightly less than one-half (93,752, or 48.9 per cent.) foreign born. The native element embraces all persons born in Hawaii, or in any state or outlying possessions of the United States. Persons born in Porto Rico or in the Philippine islands, whether of Porto Rican, Filipino, or other racial origin are accordingly classified as native. For the Japanese the percentage native was 25; for the Chinese, 33.2; for the Portuguese, 61.7; and for the "other Caucasian" element, 66.7.

DEVELOPMENT OF NATIONAL PARKS.

More room for the settler and more food for the markets will be the outcome of a newly organized investigation and soil survey which the government has entered upon on the national forests of the west. Experts of the bureau of soils of the department of agriculture, in co-operation with the forest service, are working on a study of the agricultural possibilities of all parts of the national forests where it is probable that farm crops can be grown with profit, and it is probable that there will be available for farming purposes within two years between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 acres, providing homes for 30,000 to 50,000 families.

This area of land which will be released for settlement is larger in size than the combined area of all of the land on the government's irrigation projects of the west. The action in restoring the land to entry is in accord with a policy entered upon by the forest service seven years ago, but until the present year there was no appropriation which made it possible to carry on the work of classifying the agricultural lands systematically and on a large scale. July 1 an appropriation of $120,000 will be available to carry on the investigation. Without special facilities, however, the forest service already has examined and classified as chiefly valuable for agriculture more than 1,200,000 acres, or land enough for 12,000 homes.

FAVORS APPRENTICE PLAN.

Revival of the apprenticeship system in some form in the United States is advocated by Dr. Holmes Beckwith of the United States bureau of education in a report to the bureau published today. Dr. Beckwith's conclusions are based on a first-hand study of the system as employed in Germany, and he urges the need of industrial schools to supplement the system.

"Wasteful though the apprenticeship was of the apprentice's time and effort," says Dr. Beckwith, "apprenticeship in its newer forms, both in Germany and in the United States, has in it much of promise for the future training of industrial workers. No better way, nor even so good, has yet been devised for the main training of the mass of industrial workers than in the shops where they are employed and by those who supervise their work."

The investigator sets forth that the cost of reintroducing the system would be inexpensive if individual employers bore the expense of ad-

quate training for their youthful workers. Specialization in training is frowned upon by Dr. Beckwith, who would have industrial education broadened. To this end he advocates a greater number of industrial schools.

WARNS AGAINST MOTH BALLS.

Trusting housewives who have packed away winter clothing with compounds calculated to prevent the encroachment of moths are to be warned by the department of agriculture that many of the compounds on the market are worthless. Through this means much damage to property, it is believed, will be prevented.

The department announced that 10,000 copies of judgments against unscrupulous manufacturers are to be printed for the information of the public. The decisions made public were obtained in three suits against New York companies, one of which was fined $25 and the other two sentences suspended.

Vigorous prosecution of manufacturers who misbrand their goods or fall short in the advertised weight of their packages is to be undertaken by the department. While the initial fine is light, subsequent violations of the law can be visited by penalties of a fine not to exceed $300 or imprisonment for not to exceed one year, or both.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Talking about duplicates, perhaps the case of James C. McReynolds, attorney-general, and Representative Gordon Lee of Georgia, eclipses the Marshall instance. In fact, the Mc-Reynolds-Lee case might as well be definitely set down as worse. The two are continually being taken for each other by friends and acquaintances, as well as strangers.

They are of about the same age, are both of southern birth, are close personal friends, have the same attractive mannerisms and resemble each other in stature, weight and carriage.
Recently Former Senator Joseph Bailey of Texas spied one of them walking ahead of him on busy 15th street.

"Hello, there, Mac!" he shouted.
"Wait a minute!"
"Mac" didn't wait and so the former senator chased after him. As he peered the man he pursued he exclaimed:

"Oh, hello, Gordon; I thought you were McReynolds."

GOING THE LIMIT.

"Pretty hot today," observed Senator Thornton as he boarded an elevator at the Capitol.

"Yes," replied the conductor, "but I see you are going the limit in trying to be comfortable."

"How is that?" inquired the senator, with an uneasy tremor in his voice.

Without voicing his views the conductor pointed at the senator's neck, and Mr. Thornton grabbed it with both hands.

Sensor Thornton did not even have a transparent collar or necktie. He had neglected putting them on until the last minute because of the excessive heat and then fared forth without them.

"Blushing primroses!" exclaimed the senator, "and I have been out making departmental calls. I just left Postmaster General Burleson."

REMAINS OF ANCIENT RACE.

Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, who visited for the Smithsonian Institution parts of Siberia and Mongolia in search of possible remains of the race that first peopled America, met with success, he announces.

A report of his expedition published by the Smithsonian Institution says:
"As a result of what he saw Dr.
Hrdlicka expresses the belief that there exists today over large portions of eastern Siberia and in Mongolia, Tibet and other regions in that part of the world, numerous remains of an ancient population, which was physically identical with and in all probability gave rise to the American Indian."

Girl Is Mother to Woman.

There were three of them, all girls, and so far as casual observation was a guide, all of an age—five or six years—and they were crossing a dowatown thoroughfare where traffic was heavy and small children seemed out of place, a New York Globe writer states. They were hatless, and, therefore of the neighborhood—janitors' youngsters, probably.

There was nothing noteworthy in three little children crossing a busy street. What challenged attention was the forceful manner in which one placed herself between the other two, grasped a hand of each, looked keenly up and down the thoroughfare, and at the right moment gave the word of command to cross, while her companions clung timidly to her, no older or larger than themselves, and she advanced with confidence in every movement.

"She won't need any protector when she grows up," remarked a man on the curb.

"No; but her husband may," said an other.

NO CURE FOR FEAR

Purely a Mental Condition Seldom Overcome.

Malady Without Physical Reason, Say Scientists, That Causes Much Suffering and Is a Subject of Great Interest Little Investigated.

Fear is coming to be looked upon by scientists as a disease. This least governable of emotions is one of the most disastrous to the race of man. It is responsible for countless absolute failures in life, and there is no cure for it.

Once fear takes a grip upon man or woman it is unlikely he or she ever will be able to shake loose from its tentacles. It grows in intensity and a slight mental depression only helps to increase its acuteness.

There are the fears of disease, the fear of failure and fear of success.
Men who have begun life in their youth with all the mental and physical requisite for success in the financial world, have, unaccountably to their friends, failed miserably. And the specific causes of these failures never have been revealed even to their most intimate associates. They know the reason in their own hearts, but a man with a morbid fear never lets his secret escape from his brain cells.

While the many fatal maladies of humanity are being combated by science, and in many cases with marvelous success, little attention, says the New York Press, is being paid to this mental disease that of all agencies is the greatest hampering influence in life.
No specific remedy has yet been found to relieve it. There have been instances of where it has been overcome in a great measure, but never entirely. Fear, once a part of a human being's mentality, may desert temporarily, but it invariably returns in the least expected instances.

As no physical reasons for its existence have as yet been positively proved, it must for the present be considered as a purely mental condition and from the standpoint of personal observation and experience.

It is a subject of the utmost importance, as the occurrence of fear as a malady in an individual may spell his misery or happiness, his success or failure, no matter what his calling in life may be. It is more than medical interest, as it may concern the welfare of the lawyer, banker, editor, man of business—in fact, everybody, often over the physician himself.

A man may face a cannon's mouth as calmly as he would sit down to lunch, with all thought of death far removed from his mind, and yet be afflicted in everyday civil life with the malady of fear!

A soldier of fortune who has fought under the British flag in all parts of the empire struggled for years after his return to civil life against a mysterious feeling of fear. Unable to bear it any longer, he went to a physician, to whom he confessed as follows: "I have fought in 17 battles, and have been decorated with the Victoria Cross; I have never been a coward, but now I am as fearful as a woman.
I dare not even venture to cross a street if there is a single vehicle in sight, and I am heartily ashamed of myself. Help me!"

This is one kind of fear which is here considered as a malady, and it is unnecessary to add that this soldier of fortune suffered most lamentably from his unreasonable affliction.
The fact that he was relieved in a very short length of time throws some light on the importance of looking on such a condition as a veritable disease.

A well known writer always had a dread of beginning any new literary work for fear that it might not be up to his usual standard, and consequently might not prove acceptable. He had adoped, in reviewing his condition, when whenever he commenced anything in that dreadful frame of mind the result was invariably failure.

When that fear was not present, anything he wrote was always favorably received. He could never tell whether that state of fear would be present or not when he sat down to his daily task. This condition became more and more frequent, until finally he could not trust himself to write a single word. A psychologist relieved him ultimately.

But there is one thing which distinguishes fear as a malady from fear as commonly known, and that is its unreasonableness. There is as a rule no apparent cause to justify such strange and unexpected results.

Of course, any one confronted on a dark night by a pistol thrust under the nose would be apt to feel more or less frightened—that is reasonable fear—but to feel just as badly frightened in the absence of all visible danger serves to class the condition under discussion as a distinct malady.

There is one thing common to all persons afflicted with this condition of fear, and that is, all mental activity is more or less suspended or paralyzed at the time of attack. The capacity for mental work and even the desire are absent in varying degree.

Rapid thought is impossible, and the victim complains that he cannot work as he did formerly. As the feeling of fear takes possession of him his ambition and enterprise become almost extinguished.

Cause of the Roughness.
This planet is pretty rough because there is hardly any place on it where truth has not been crushed to earth.

Growing in Favor.

The water from the well located on the farm of Luther H. Smithson, near Church Hill, is growing in favor every day. The most obstinate cases of indigestion, constipation and stomach trouble are yielding to the medical qualities of this water by a few days use. Probably half the people who say they have "heart trouble" have nothing but indigestion, sometimes manifestly in an acute form. Try the water from Mr. Smithson's well for a few days and test its virtues for yourself. He delivers it your home at 12½ cents a gallon.

Among the many who are using it with beneficial effects we mention: Flem Clardy, Muncey Moss, Roy Kenner, Gus Brethitt, Jno. C. Hcoe, J. W. Lander, Rev E. W. Barnett, Del. Henderson, John C. Gary. See them. Telephone Coates' drug store or call 633, 5 rings. Advertisement.

"The proof is conclusive," said the judge. "Discharge the prisoner."—National Food Magazine.

And James Went.

The teacher was trying to break James of saying, "I have went," but the task seemed hopeless. So, as a last resort, she had him stay after school and write twenty times on the blackboard, "I have gone home."

While the child was occupied the teacher left the room, and was still absent when James finished the task. And to acquaint her with the fact he wrote:

"Dear Teach—I have wrote what you told me, and have went home."—National Food Magazine.

Eating or Sleeping.

A man is often like a horse. We've heard some people say: But surely both are happy when It's time to hit the hay.

Coming to a Halt.

Two Irishmen were among a class that was being drilled in marching tactics. One was new at the business, and turning to his companion asked him the meaning of the command "Halt!"

"Why," said Miko, "when he says 'Halt,' you just bring the foot that's on the ground to the side as the foot that's in the air, an' remain motionless."

Bridget's Scheme.

"Why, Bridget, you surely don't consider those windows washed?" said the lady of the house, reproachfully. "Sure, I washed 'em nicely on the inside, mum, so we can look out," replied Bridget, "but I intentionally left them a little dirty on the outside so them ignorant Jones childrens axit door couldn't look in."—Everybody's Magazine.

Third Generation.

"Fifty years ago her grandfather came over in the steerage with a pack on his back."

"Well, what of it?" "Nothing, except this paper I am reading says she departed for Europe this morning with 42 steamer trunks, three maids and tickets calling for the white-and-gold suite."

Insult Added to Injury.

"Well, did he pay you?" asked the wife of a dentist who had been to collect a bill for a full set of false teeth that he had made for a man almost a year before. "Pay me!" growled the dentist. "Not only did he refuse to pay me, but he actually had the effrontery to gnash at me—with my teeth!"

ENVY.

The Postmistress—Ah, dog, I wish I didn't have nothin' to worry me 'cep' these, like you.

Fancy Shot.

A marksman told was William Tell. One of the stars. It nearly always rang the bell and won the cigars.

Sorry He Spoke.

"Scientists state that seafaring people should always keep chocolate handy," remarked the pedantic youth. "Chocolate contains many heat units, and is valuable in time of emergency." "How nice," responded the girl. "Better take a two-pound box when we go rowing this afternoon."

More Fairs to Be Held in The State.

Only six more fairs are to be held in the State this year. Six weeks ago the list of county fairs measured nearly half a column. The State fair at Louisville is now in progress and when the week closes there will be but six, as follows, all occurring this month, excepting the Pennsylvanian Fair, the biggest and best, beginning October 7th:

- Bedford, Trimble county, September 16 and 17.
- Bowling Green, Warren county, September 24-28.
- Horse Cave, Hart county, September 24-28.
- Owensboro Fair, October 1-4.
- Paducah, McCracken county, September 29 to October 2.
- Paducah is preparing for a host of visitors and splendid exhibition of everything usually shown, notably many fine horses. The exhibitors of horses are anxious to come direct from Paducah here.

Peaches Plentiful.

Nature's bounty in the field of late peaches in orchards in Kentucky is a good one. That which is being sold in the high market is being sold in the high market. Many growers will let peaches waste on the trees and ground as they cannot get it picked up quick enough. The best fruit ever seen here is offered at 50 cents a bushel at the orchard.

Hunting Season Over.

Put up your gun for six weeks. The open season closed last Monday. You can't kill anything in the way of game until November first, even rabbits and squirrels are to be left alone until then. Remember the game and fish law in Kentucky is broader than in any other state and the game wardens are expected to be more active than formerly.

NAPOLEON FEARED THE Czar

But Alexander I. Dined Several Times With Bonaparte—Elaborate Precautions Taken.

The interview between the two sovereigns took place upon a boat in the middle of the Niemen, in the presence of both armies drawn up in most brilliant array on opposite sides of the river. It is said that Napoleon, on perceiving Alexander, struck with the beauty of that prince, exclaimed, "It is Apollo!" It was at this interview that Alexander for the first time gave Napoleon the title of "Emperor," and "Majesty," whom until then he had not recognized as the ruler of the French nation.

The boat belonged to Napoleon. Napoleon naturally wished to do the honors of the meeting place for the conference to the emperor of Russia. Alexander claimed that he was on his own shore, Napoleon that he was on his own boat. To put an end to the ceremonial controversy, Alexander said, "Very well, we will enter together." As the door was very narrow, the two sovereigns were obliged to squeeze themselves together to enter at the same time.

The conference lasted a number of days, during which the sovereigns visited each other reciprocally. Alexander even dined several times with Napoleon, who would never in his turn show the same proof of confidence, saying, to justify his fear, "I am not as good as you, sire, and I fear the people, by whom you are surrounded." When the Emperor Alexander dined at the French camp with several persons of his suite, the servants carried the dishes of gold and placed them on Napoleon's table, passing through two lines of grenadiers, who allowed no one to approach for fear they might throw poison into the food.

Prayers at Kalighat.

The following prayer was read by the president of the Kalighat People's association on the 24th instant in the Kalighat temple to invoke the blessing of Goddess Kall on the British empire.

"May the Sun of Glory shine as divinely, as brilliantly, as honorably, as ever and for ever and ever on this the thrice blessed empire. The temple on which the sun never sets; the empire which stretches from one end of the world to the other, whose head is Great Britain, whose right hand is Canada, whose left hand is India, whose feet are Australia and South Africa, whose other limbs are in every land and on all waters!"

May Goddess Kall of the Temple of Kalighat preserve for ever and ever the mighty king-emperor and his august consort, who sit high on the sacred throne of this the mightiest empire, mightiest of all that ever were, that ever will be!

May Goddess Kall of the Temple of Kalighat shower her choicest blessings on those by whose strong arms and merciful hands the work of this great empire is smoothly being done! May Goddess Kall of the Great Temple of Kalighat bless us all who people this blessed empire and enjoy the joys that abound within it!—Calcutta Englishman.

Our Thoughtful Sons.

Father and son were sitting on the porch step with the lawn mower a few feet away. They looked at each other. Then they looked at the mower.

"Dad," said the youngster, "you're getting too stout."
"Am I?"
"Sure. It's a pity, too. Jack Perkins told me yesterday that his dad had reduced his waist measure four inches."
"How?"
"Pushing the lawn mower."
There was a brief silence. Then the son got up and went into the house for his tennis racket, and dad arose and tackled the mower.

Same Reason.

Young Betts had just told his mother of his engagement to a charming young woman who was not blessed with much of this world's goods, and he had with immediate objection.
"Now, mother, dear," said the young man, "don't be angry with me for falling in love with her. Besides, you were a poor girl when you first met me."
"Yes," replied Mrs. Betts, "so I was. But so was your father. And I married him because I knew he would succeed."
"Well, mother," he said, "and she is going to marry me because he did—don't you see?"

DEADLY POISON ACTS QUICKLY

No Time Must Be Lost When the Presence of Ptomaines in the Stomach is Even Suspected.

The deadly ptomaine has frequently been taken into account. There is hardly a paper that does not contain one or more accounts of people made deadly ill by eating salad at a reception, drinking lemonade that has been left in some improper receptacle or eating canned goods improperly preserved. The names of such victims are legion.

Ptomaines defined are poisonous products formed in fish, meat, milk and other articles of food by a process of decomposition that leaves little visible trace of its action. Milk improperly cooled at the dairy farm often comes to the consumer in a dangerous condition; but when sickness results it is usually too late to trace it to the original source and fix the responsibility.

Poisoning cases from tinned goods are frequent. If a can bulges it is positive proof that decomposition has set in. In opening any can of meat, fruit, fish or vegetables the contents should be at once turned into an earthen bowl or crock, never left for even half an hour in the opened tin.

In case of poisoning, empty the stomach at once, using as an emetic mustard in lukewarm water, a tablespoonful of mustard to a cupful of water, salt and water, same proportion of cold water and libitum. The mechanical resource would be thrusting the finger in the throat or tickling it with a feather.

An emetic frequently acts quicker than an emetic in emptying the stomach and bowels. The next thing is to give antidotes, lime water scraped from the walls if you can't get hold of any other form quickly; magnesia, whiting, rice water, wood ashes, all are effective; but get your doctor on the spot as quickly as possible and follow his directions. Remember, in all these instances prevention is far easier than cure.

Only a Difference in the Kind.

Professor Nichols, a famous physicist, during the recitation of a freshman class in natural philosophy, observed a tall, lanky youth in the rear seat, his head in a recumbent position, his body in a languid pose, his eyes half closed, and his legs extended far out. He was either asleep or about to lose consciousness.

"Mr. Ricardo," said the scientist, "you may recite."

The freshman opened his eyes slowly. He did not change his recumbent pose.

"Mr. Ricardo, what is work?"

"Everything is work," was the drawing reply.

"What? Everything is work?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then I take it you would like the class to believe that this desk is work?"

"Yes, sir," replied the youth, wearily: "wood work."

Amazing Case of John Doe.

The man mounted his motorcycle and gilded from the curb. He didn't linger until he had bruised the neighboring cardrums with a series of discordant snorts. He rode away quietly and turned the corner at a dignified pace. Seventeen minutes later he alighted at his place of business. He had covered the four miles without a mishap.

Nobody had been hurt, no children had been frightened, no sick people had been annoyed, no policeman had threatened, no dogs had been humped, nobody screamed, nobody growled, nobody swore.

"They said it couldn't be done," muttered the motorcycleist, and he smiled as he toted the machine into the storeroom.

There is a moral in this fairy tale.

Black as a Color.

Black is probably not a color, but rather the absence of color. It absorbs light, but gives back very little in return, and is also an absorbent of color to a certain extent. Black has always been the riddle among the pigments of nature, as is evident from the words used to particularize it in more than one language. For instance, in Anglo-Saxon, the same root words, "black," furnishes the two contradictory words "black" and "bleach," probably with some occult reference to the idea of black being the absence of properly-colored coloring matter.

SKINNED AND SALTED

Stanley Takes The Hide Off A Wyoming Republican.

Congressman Stanley lambasted Mondell, of Wyoming, Monday, who denounced the "secret caucus" methods of the Democrats. The following speech by Mr. Stanley was greeted with loud applause on the Democratic side and silenced Mr. Mondell completely:

"While I respect the love of independence, it grieves me beyond measure to see it made a mockery and a travesty upon the floor of this House. Better have some criss-cross woman lead modest maidens in paths of purity, better some escaped convict pose as the arbiter and censor for honest men than to learn of freedom from him, the most abject apostle and most subservient slave Joe Cannon ever had. This gentleman who has just addressed us has attained an unenviable eminence by his prompt obedience to any command, by his silence under any lash, by his quick defense of any kind of a gag, and here with the marks of his servitude upon him, before the hair has grown enough to cover the mark of the collar upon his neck, before the imprints of the shackles are effaced from his ankles, and before the echoes of his voice have died in this hall where but lately he defended every Republican outrage, he arises here to lecture Democrats, forsooth, about independence.

"There is one difference between Democratic harmony and Republican discipline. We to-day are inspired by the patriotism by the courage, by the splendid genius of a beloved and trusted leader. You were led, you were driven by the horrid lash of a brutal boss until in your wrath like a blind Sampson you pulled the temple down upon your own devoted heads. We answer to a call, you obeyed the goad driven into your unwilling and quivering flesh. If we must be told of caucus rule, if we must be told of party tyranny, for God's sake find among your party some man whose back is not marked by the lash and whose record is not blackened by the defense of the very iniquities he now pretends to condemn."

KEEP BOONS ON YOUR TIPS

European Waiters Advertise Generosity, or the Reverse, by Marks on Baggage.

Much traveled persons, who carefully examine their trunks, will find thereon a number of cabalistic marks, which they probably put down to the wear and tear imposed on the baggage, London Answers states. As a matter of fact, the signs come not of chance—they are placed there by the waiters at the various hotels whereat the traveler has stayed, and have a direct meaning.

A sort of freemasonry exists among waiters at European hotels. They have a system of marking baggage so as to tell other waiters the manner of man that the traveler is as regards tipping.

The traveler who arrives at a hotel with his baggage marked with a straight upright line on either side of the locks is sure of good attention—he is classified as "very liberal." A horizontal straight mark means that the owner is no good at all; while if this mark is accompanied by a V mark it signifies to the waiting fraternity that the traveler is the limit—entirely hopeless.

A cross mark on the lower right hand corner conveys the intelligence that the owner of the trunk is rather eccentric, but worth paying attention to. A diagonal mark in the lower left hand corner speaks of a person who is eccentric without being liberal.

WORK FOR HOME AND SCHOOL

Writer Sees Urgent Need of Training Children in the Proper Pronunciation of Words.

Our carelessness in speech is manifested not only in the particular instance of the unaccented vowel. Our consonants suffer likewise from our general negligence of speech, writes Robert E. Menner in The Atlantic. If any combination is at all difficult of utterance we offer no resistance at all to our tendency to change or omit a letter or two. We change partner into pardner and "used to" into "usta" with the hissing sound of s. Moreover we are continually "mouthing" and swallowing our words in a manner impossible of description or illustration. One needs, however, only to hear a conversation between two American children to realize that the utterance of Americans in general is marked by an unpleasant indefiniteness. This weakness, like every bad habit of our nation, has been ascribed to the hurry of American life. To this it may be indirectly due. The direct cause is, however, our seeming unwillingness to change the position of our mouths and our lack of training in exerting those organs which control the modulations of our speech. Our inertia, the effects of which threaten to be so pernicious to the speech of future America, both the home and the school should unite in attempting to eradicate.

LAST YEAR'S MODEL, PERHAPS.

"I like to jump into my motor car and speed away from troubles." "I'd like to do that, too, if something didn't always happen to my blamed machine, so that I carry greater troubles with me than those I leave behind."

Guarding an Impression. "Why doesn't that Parisian playwright accept those challenges?" "He's in a predicament. He is a tragic author and can't afford to let the public see him in anything as funny as a French duel."

"MOVIES" AS A LIFE SAVER.

Motion pictures seem destined to have a repressing influence on recklessness and crime. Professor Munsterberg's invention—the cinematograph nerve test for chauffeurs, pilots and other men in charge of passenger and traffic conveyances—places the candidate in a motor car in a dark room before a moving picture. A child in the picture darts before him; a team dashes directly toward him; a heap of rock suddenly appears. In every case the would-be chauffeur must act immediately; his steadiness or unsteadiness of nerve is plainly revealed. It should be remembered that such a test is as realistic as life itself; so real was the dog in a recent picture at Brenham, Tex., that a dog in the house dashed at him and tore the screen to pieces.—World's Work.

REFRIGERATOR ON WHEELS.

A miniature lunch wagonette for use in the home, a device by which many steps will be saved for the housewife who has a few friends drop in on her unexpectedly, is the invention of Mrs. James J. Brown of Denver, a survivor of the Titanic disaster. Mrs. Brown is having one of the little wagons built for her in Germany. It is to have a silver body with wheels so that it can be pushed about. It will be a small combination of pantry, refrigerator, sideboard and electric cooker.

METAPHYSICAL.

Instructor (at night school)—Give a sentence with the word "metaphysical" in it. "Sluggish Haired Pupil—On his way home Mr. Jones metaphysician."

PREPARING FOR THE WORST.

"I see they have a cold storage plant at the White House." "I would suggest that office seekers be steered through it as they arrive."

Aid for the Invalid.

A stick of the right sort will help an invalid in many ways. It should be strong, yet light, with a stout iron hook on one end and a knob on the other. This will enable an invalid to adjust curtains, raise and lower shades and windows, push her rolling chair or move a screen, and aid herself in a variety of other ways.

TOO LATE

For A Home Coming At The Pennyroyal Fair.

It has been deemed inadvisable to attempt to get up a Home Coming for the Fair, as an affair of that kind cannot be made a success in a few weeks' time. It should be undertaken on a large scale next year and made an event of far-reaching importance.

At The Infirmary.

Mrs. H. M. Petach, whose home is near the city, on the Cadiz pike, was taken to the Sanitarium Tuesday. On the same day Mr. B. F. Dye, of Lafayette, was taken to the institution. Mrs. Petach is there for treatment and Mr. Dye will undergo a minor operation.

Colored Schools Crowded.

MAY UNITE FOND COUPLES

Under British Law, Sea Captains Are Empowered to Act as Marriage "Registrars."

According to British theory, the deck of one of his majesty's ships of war is English territory.

The captains of British war vessels are on this account authorized by law to act as marriage "registrars," and a wedding ceremony may, therefore, take place on the high seas or on board an English man-of-war on a foreign station, subject, however, to certain prescribed modifications. These indicate that the legality of the marriage depends on the commanding officer's compliance with the conditions of the foreign marriage act of 1892, which, with very slight differences, conform to the conditions as to age, consent of parents, false oaths, residence, etc., applying to marriages in the United Kingdom.

Before the passage of the act of 1892 commanding officers of war vessels and merchant ships celebrated marriages on board under an old act, and the marriage was of necessity confirmed or disavowed at the nearest port by the British consular authorities. Where there was no diplomatic or consular representative, the captain was empowered to act himself as consul and confirm his own deed.

In the merchant service of Great Britain the skipper enjoys even greater power. He is not obliged to return a certificate, the only compulsion on him being the necessity to "log" the marriage in his official log book, where it may be entered between reports dealing with the vessel's provisioning, her course, the weather encountered, the ships spoken, and the many other details of the log.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly.

No. Other Newspaper in the World Gives So Much at So Low a Price.

This is a time of great events and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The Democrats, for the first time in sixteen years, will have the Presidency and they will also control both branches of Congress. The political news is sure to be of the most absorbing interest.

There is a great war in the Old World, and you may read of the extinction of the vast Turkish Empire in Europe, just as a few years ago you read how Spain lost her last foot of soil in America, after having ruled the empire of half the New World.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World also abounds in other strong features—serial stories, humor, markers, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first class daily.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 150 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville, Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women.

CARBOLIC ACID TOO STRONG

But Then, as His Partner Said, the Dead Man "Never Did Have No Constitution."

Captain T. H. Huston, the most important contractor in all Spanish-America, goes to New York as often as possible in the summer to see baseball games. In the winter he has arranged it so that American teams play in Cuba. His particular little playmate there is John J. McGraw.

"I traded so-and-so," said McGraw, "because his health is poor."

"During the Spanish war," said Captain Huston, "I was stationed at a hospital camp at Ybor City. Your statement recalls an incident I witnessed. Half a mile down the road, through a primetio swamp, was a mule camp. The muleteers had been picked in the United States because they were the only things in the world that were tougher than an army mule. One day, as we lay under a tree, we saw a man galloping a big mule through the swamp.

"Hurry, Doc," this man gasped when he got to us, "hurry. Me and another guy was lyin' under a wagon just now, takin' a drink now and then. An' we got hold of the wrong bottle, and we both took a pull at some carbolic acid that I'd been dressing a mule's shoulder with."

"The doctor filled him full of grease and emollients, and then tried to put him to bed."

"Nix," said he. "I'm a busy man. I gotta get back to that camp and make them guys do their work."

"So away he rode, with the carbolic acid fuming and steaming inside him. In another half hour he came chargin' back through the swamp on his big mule."

"Turn down that bed, doc," he yelled. "I think I'll stick around a while. That other guy's lyin' under the wagon, dender'n h—l."

"I should think you'd be scared," said the doctor.

"Aw," said the mule driver, "he never did have no constitution!"

MULE QUICK TO "CATCH ON"

Veracious Owner Tells Story of How Accident Taught Animal His Abilities as Fish Catcher.

A Connecticut farmer owns a mule which, he declares, catches fish. He learned the trick last winter while harvesting ice. The mule broke through a thin place on the ice one day and the farmer and his gang of men had a hard time to rescue him, but despite the excitement they noticed that the mule never gave a single bray for help. When the mule was finally landed it held in its jaws a fine pickerel 23 inches long. The farmer took the pickerel to town and placed it on exhibition. To prove the truth of his story he pointed out the tooth marks on the fish. He says that the mule frequently wades into the pond now and brings out a fish.

To Clean Statuary.

To clean statuary or ornaments of white parian marble put a small tablespoonful of washing soda into a pail half full of tepid water. Soap yellows marble, and should not be used. Scrub gently with a nail brush, after which rinse twice. Wipe dry with a clean towel. Be sure the ornaments are perfectly dry before they are put back in their places, for if they are not, a moist ring at the base of each may injure the table or mantle on which they stand.

Took Prescription Literally.

A German doctor was consulted by a very sick patient, and having called while the doctor was engaged, he wrote his prescription and threw it down to the sick man in haste, saying: "There, take that!" The patient took the prescription and left. A few days after he returned to the doctor and reported himself well.

"But," said he, "I found it hard to swallow, as I never swallowed paper before as a medicine; but I got it down, and am well, thank God!"

Biffer's Helpmeet.

"Biffers has a jewel of a wife. Some people think she's frivolous. Biffers doesn't. He reads all his stories to her and then abides by her decision."

"But isn't that trusting a good deal to her judgment?"

"Yes, but it works out all right. The stories she condemns he sends to the publisher, and the stories she likes he throws away. It's all very simple."

Co-operation Needed.

According to the testimony of an American author, the increasing predominance of women teachers in America is already cause for anxiety, and with good reason, for the good order of things in school, in the home, in the community, demands that men and women co-operate as equals, having like authority and like responsibility.—Ellen Key in Atlantic.

DRAMMA OF LOST LANGUAGE

Signs of Ancient Sogdian Race Found in Central Asia Presented to Paris Sorbonne.

R. Gauthiot, the French savant, has presented to the Paris Sorbonne the first grammar of the Sogdian language, which was lost to the world one thousand years ago.

The Sogdians are supposed to have been a powerful and highly cultured race, inhabiting Central Asia, where now there is merely a sandy desert. Their language, it is declared, shows that they were the parents of all the present European and Indo-European races, though the method of writing this language resembles Semitic rather than Aryan.

The land which the Sogdians inhabited formed a link between Siberia on the north, China on the east, Tibet and India on the south and Iran and Persia on the west. Before the development of sea commerce the caravans disseminating the riches of the orient all passed through Sogdia, the last vestiges of which are supposed to have been destroyed by the Mongols in the eleventh century. Within a decade travelers and explorers have found traces of great cities buried in the sand, with Buddhist art workers of considerable beauty and at least two libraries of manuscripts, while remains of canals indicate that the Sogdians well understood irrigation.

Although the modern Persians are believed to have descended directly from the Sogdians, whose language is supposed to have disappeared during the Mohammedan renaissance in the eighth century, only one miserable tribe dwelling in a rocky valley in central Asia, namely, the Yagnobis, is thought to preserve some characteristics of the lost race, whose re-discovery is expected to clear up many problems in history. Professor Gauthiot hopes to depart soon to study the Yagnobis among their native cliffs.

Western Medicines in China.

In China, western ideas are going ahead. A proof of this is that the European medicine chest has been adopted. Dr. Wu Lien Teh (still known at Cambridge, where he took his degrees, as "G. L. Tuck"), the director of the plague prevention service organized by the Chinese government, recently came to England to read a paper at the International Medical Congress on his work in North China. "I wish the use of Chinese medicines was dying out as quickly as we expected," he said; "but the people are saturated with old-fashioned ideas, and it will take some time to eradicate them. Still," he added, "western treatment is making headway, especially in surgery, and there are a great many European trained doctors now practicing among the Chinese. The general stage of medicine in China is about comparable to what it was in Europe 50 or 60 years ago. A significant sign of progress is that the old-fashioned physicians are coming to our service and asking western trained men to give them lectures and advice, while the people themselves are taking an interest in health subjects."

Killed by Runaway Balloon.

A runaway airship caused the death of a German sentry at Schneidemuehl, Germany, a few days ago. The airship—a military dirigible balloon, Schuette-Lanz—was torn from her moorings in a wild squall and wrecked. She carried up in her cordage two sentries, one of whom was killed by falling 600 feet, and the other severely injured by a jump of 30 feet. Neither crew nor pilot was on board the aircraft, which was at anchor on the military parade ground, her mooring chains buried 6½ feet in the earth, when a gust caused her to break away. The sentries tried to hold her down and were lifted into the air. One loosened his hold soon after leaving earth, but the other held fast until exhausted, and was then hurled to the ground and killed. The dirigible landed an hour later some miles away.

Carnegie and French Reporters.

The rich Carnegie was recently for several days in Paris. On arrival a legion of reporters came to ask his impressions of his journey. Very courteously he received them, and in course of conversation remarked: "What an interesting profession is yours. You study daily life in all its diverse manifestations. How greatly do I regret, gentlemen, that I did not myself become a journalist." To this one of the reporters replied: "Be assured, Monsieur Carnegie, that we regret still more that we did not become multi-millionaires."—Le Cri de Paris.

Sacrilegious Thief Felled.

A disappointed burglar who broke into the parish church at Sunnybrow, a Durham (Eng.) mining village, and found he was unable to force open the safe, left a message for the vicar to the effect that the next time he paid an early morning call he hoped he would find the safe open. An entrance had been effected by breaking a window. A torn surplice was found stained with blood, suggesting that the visitor had been as clumsy in getting through the window as he was in his attempt to ride the safe.

Reforesting Norway.

Tree planting societies have been started in Norway to cover the mountain sides and unutilizable areas of the country with forests as they were centuries ago. The annual report shows that last year 144 societies planted 2,276,000 trees.

KNOW WHAT WAS IN SPRING

Stupid Boy Finally Tells Teacher of Peculiarities of Spring—He Was Not Guilty.

The country school teacher had been telling her scholars about the seasons and their peculiarities, and to impress the facts upon their minds she questioned them upon the points she had given. Several queries had been put, and she finally reached the stupid boy in the corner.

"Well, Johnny," she said, "have you been paying attention?"

"Yes'm," he answered promptly.

"I'm glad to hear it. Now, can you tell me what there is in the spring?"

"Yes'm, I can; but I don't want to."

"Oh, yes, you do! Don't be afraid.
You have heard the other scholars. Be a good boy now, and tell us what there is in the spring."

"Wy-wy-mum, there's a frog, an lizard, an' a dead cat in it; but I didn't put 'em there. It was another boy for I see him do it."

When It Began.

A friend of the family had been summoned to testify, much against his will, as to domestic disturbances in a certain household.

"You saw those blows administer ed?" asked the counsel.

"Yes, sir," replied the witness.

"Did you witness the beginning of the quarrel between Mr. and Mrs.
Drash?"

"I did."

"When was it?"

"Six years ago."

"Six years ago! How is that possible?"

"I was a guest at their wedding," said the witness.

Simple Enough.

Blexton Sake entered the room and critically examined his surroundings.
Then suddenly his eye lighted on the claw for which he sought.

"Aha," he exclaimed. "It was from a hole somewhere in this room that the mouse emerged."

His companion opened his eyes wide in wonderment; then—

"Your power of scent," he remarked, "is positively marvelous, Blexton!"

"Power of scent be bothered!" replied the great detective. "Can't you see the heelmarks of a woman's shoe on this chair—eh?"

VERY THOUGHTLESS.

Emerson E. Beane—I marvel at the lack of perspicuity on Aunt Matilda's part in presenting me with this crudimitation of the "Ursus Major."

Knew All His Value.

A farmer in great need of extra hands at haying time finally asked Si Warren, who was accounted the town fool, if he could help him out.

"What'll ye pay?" asked Si.

"I'll pay what you're worth," answered the farmer.

Si scratched his head a minute, then announced decisively:

"I'll be darned if I'll work for that!"
—Everybody's Magazine.

In Doubt.

"Then you have explained to your dance that you will bring no dowry?"

"Certainly."

"What did he say to that?"

"He swore that it was a matter of indifference to him."

"And how has he conducted himself since then?"

"I don't know. He has never come back."—Fleegende Blatter (Munich).

Films Evidence.

She—But how do you know you love me?

He—Why, I can't sleep at nights thinking of you.

She—That proves nothing. Pa can't sleep at nights thinking of you, but I hardly think it is love.

Might Be Dead To-day.

Garden City, Kas.—In a letter from Mrs. James Hammer, of this city, she says: "I firmly believe that I would not be alive to-day, if it were not for Cardui. I had been a sufferer from womanly troubles all my life, until I found that great remedy. I feel that I can't praise it too highly." Are you a woman suffering from some of the troubles, to which a woman is peculiarly liable?
If so, why not try Cardui, the woman's tonic? You can rely on Cardui. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and acts gently but surely, without bad after-effects.
'Twill help you. Ask your druggist.

No Job for Him.

The spring had brought out the

"Want help, do you?" said the pros-plied to for assistance by one of these.

"You're a husky looking hoggar, I must say. Why don't you work?"

his position at the top of the stairs at the well-known hour of 11:55 p. m.,

The Brute.

"He's a mean man."

"How so?"

"When his little girl begs for an ice cream sundae he asks her if she wouldn't rather have a gold watch when she's nineteen."

Fleeing the Storm.

"I think I'd better go home to mother for a while."

"Anything serious impending?"

"Well, yes. My husband is going to take an afternoon off and dye his straw hat."

Authority Demonstrated.

"Does your wife smoke cigarettes?"

"Yes," replied the nervous man;
"but just to show my domestic authority I make her give me all the coupons."

The Sights.

"Did you see the sights at the seashore?" asked one girl.

"No," answered the other. "I went into the water. I was one of them."

TWO INDEPENDENT

Candidates For Councilman Have Announced.

H. R. Tilford has announced that he will make the race in the 3rd ward on the Independent ticket for councilman in that ward. J. E. Anderson, of the 7th ward, has also announced in that ward.

His Comment.
"They say that women keep the wheels of commerce going."

"Maybe so. Here's a woman's programme when she buys anything: She opens a handbag, takes out a purse and takes out a coin, shuts the purse and opens the handbag, shuts the handbag and adjusts her veil. I think business would slump if a man had to do all that every time he made a 5-cent purchase."

His Logic.
"No, sir," the little man with the slightly foreign accent was saying, "I've don't get no s'poons in our town. Like we ought to haf. Ve got to ship it in. Don't make no difference to me. I gets all I wishes, anyway."

"Well," asked the other man, "if you get all you want, my friend, what are you kicking about?"
"Well—er—ven I gets all I wants you know, I wants some more!"

Has a Good Clew.
Guttersnipe—Oo, please—will yer run in—the bloke—wot pinched my cap?

Policeman—Who is he?
Guttersnipe—Ol dueno—but you can 'ave young Bill 'ere as a clew. The bloke left 'is finger prints on the kid's shoe!—London Punch.

Highly Adaptable.
Teacher—A woman, you know, is a word that stands for a noun; or it may stand for any number of nouns. Can you think of one?
Little Chauncey (son of the village druggist)—Talcum stands for more things than any one word I know of, ma'am.

A Painful Truth.
"Do your American Indians still paint their faces?" inquired the foreigner.

"I don't think it is altogether the Indians that keep the drug stores going," responded the native reluctantly.

And Music at Mealtimes?
"Last year I see the churches of Christendom contributed more than $1,000,000 to missionary work."
"Great Scott! What on earth are they feeding the heathen now—caviar back duck and terrapin stew?"

Literal.
"Do I take this train to Boston?"
"No; all you have to do is to get in. The engineer will attend to taking it there."

The Hard Part.
"Huh!" says the friend. "You got your money easy enough!" "Oh, I know I got it easily," replies the other. "All I have to do is stand in line for my pay envelope. It was the earning it I was kicking about—Judge."

BABY SHOW

Health Contest For Little Ones At Pennyroyal Fair.

A few years ago a woman stood watching the crowd at a State Fair. One little group attracted her special attention; a mother with a baby in her arms and another child at her skirts was trying to see some prize chickens. Her interest in the poultry was keen and intelligent. Her little children looked hot, tired, almost ill. To the other woman watching came the idea—what are we doing to improve the human species? What can and ought to be done?

The watcher was Mrs. Mary E. Watts, of Audubon, Iowa, now president of the American Baby Health Contest Association. The idea was simple but difficulty arose when a standard was to be set for the baby to be graded by. The government could furnish bulletins for hogs, horses and cows, chickens, fruits and vegetables, but none for the growth and development of the human beings who were to inherit and use all these other things.

The first contest was held in 1911 and since then interest has steadily grown. People begin to realize that we have neglected the most important asset of the nation in not helping parents to care for and develop their children along the most scientific lines. Physicians everywhere endorse the movement. It is not only to foster pride in the bright and healthy babies but to aid and assist parents whose babies are not healthy, and well developed.

In the contest which the Civic League is promoting to be held on the first day of the Pennyroyal Fair there will be all kinds of appliances for baby's comfort and health; diet lists, clothing, the most improved methods of feeding and caring for the little ones. Dr. McCormick has promised to send many of these things for exhibition and to have some one to explain them.

The score card by which the babies are to be judged has been marked out by competent physicians and there is absolutely no chance for favoritism. Mere beauty does not count, though it is true that a healthy, well developed baby is apt to be beautiful also. Cases have been known where a child fell far short of the prize one year and by intelligent care and feeding, with attention to weak points, captured the sweepstake the next year.

Progress today demands placing the man above the dollar, and prizes knowledge above riches. The place to begin making a better race of men and women is with the babies, and intelligent care and study will do wonders.

Mrs. J. J. Henry has charge of the entry cards for the Baby Health Contest of the Pennyroyal Fair. A number have been sent out but any one desiring one can apply to her. Mrs. Geo. Kibb has charge of the arrangements and equipment. Further details will be given from time to time.

CUTTING TOBACCO

Will Be About Concluded This Week.

The tobacco crop will be about all housed and cut this week. While it is about 80 per cent. of an average crop, and not large, it is said to be of good quality. There are a few late crops which will not be cut until next week. The light showers in some sections of the county have been very helpful for late tobacco, and should not be killed by frost. Frost at this time of the year is not of unusual occurrence.

Everybody invited to see the great show herd of Berkshire hogs owned by M. W. Blair, Guthrie, Ky., which will be sold at auction at the Pennyroyal Fair Grounds, Saturday, Sept. 20, at 1:30 p. m.

GET READY

For the Fair, the Biggest Event Of the Year.

The carnivals, baseball, tented theatres and other things that have occupied the attention of the people for months are things of the past and everybody should begin preparing for the big event of the year, the Pennyroyal Fair. Not for a quarter of a century have we had anything like it for tripping straight to Repkinville. Its importance can hardly be realized the first year. Everybody will know then better what to do by the first year's experiences.
